

Artist Elizabeth Veglia helped St. Clare Elementary School Students create a mosaic mural this week that will be hung at the entrance to the school. The subject of the mosaic encompasses life at St. Clare Church and School in its picturesque setting on Beach Blvd. Every student and every teacher contributed to the construction process. The project was made possible by a grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission.

Beach project could be costly

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

A sand beach renourishment project stretching along five miles of beach between Bay St. Louis and Waveland could end of costing the county thousands of extra dollars county officials say if the folks at the National Marine Fisheries Service don't make a decision on a permit within the next few weeks.

Dredging going on at a separate project near Bayou Caddy will be completed in two to three weeks and once the dredging company wraps up the job, the county will be facing remobilization costs for the renourishment project.

On Monday Supervisors were forced to reject all bids received so far in the project because of the inability to meet approaching contract and other deadlines due to the delay in permitting.

The original permit application to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, filed about nine months ago stands waiting to be approved pending a decision at the Fisheries Service. Compton engineer Steve Oivanki said Wednesday that the Fisheries Service has had the application for about two months now.

Some involved with the project said a lack of communication with the Fisheries Service has left them wondering what the holdup is with a decision.

On Wednesday, Stephanian Bolden with the Fisheries Service, returned a phone call immediately and confirmed that her agency is performing a formal consultation in accordance with the Endangered Species Act, a standard practice when an endangered species or critical habitat occur in a project area, she said.

Both occur in the proposed dredging area in the form of the endangered Gulf Sturgeon.

The department must proceed very carefully Bolden said in order to ensure that the project does not endanger either the species or critical habitat. The method of dredging operations can play a part in whether this occurs, she said.

The Fisheries Department has 145 days from the time they receive a permit application to determine and issue a biological opinion.

Her office received the application at the end of January and will issue their decision within that time limit, and very likely before, she said.

Critical habitat for the Gulf Sturgeon could also be impacted by a proposed live fire training operation in the Pearl River. Determinations of inland habitats are handled by the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

In other business:

- Developer Kirk Ladner appeared with a representative from a Florida based development company, to ask Supervisors whether they would be willing to relax a restriction on building heights to allow a 100 ft plus condominium project near Bayou Caddy.

The representative said such a project would not be feasible at that location unless the restrictions were relaxed. Supervisors said that before a high-rise project would be possible issues involving fire protection and wastewater service would have to be addressed.

Hancock County Youth Court will have to keep up with a lot less paperwork due to a new state sponsored computer system that will help manage cases. The system will manage data to provide a system for electronic signatures. The county is one of only a few in the state to receive the new system.

- The White Cypress subdivision is having trouble enforcing its covenants, said resident Larry Carter. Carter and another resident asked the county for help managing unleashed dogs and enforcing covenants that prohibited the influx of barnyard animals in the neighborhood.

They also asked for a legal opinion on who was responsible for ownership and taxes of the community's 120 acre lake and help clearing some overgrown roads. Supervisors said they could help with the dog problem and would look at clearing the county owned roads. Enforcement of covenants and legal opinions on private property are not within the scope of county business, they said.

Waveland Marina project back on the table

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The City of Waveland is once again gathering information on the feasibility of a marina project at the foot of Coleman and Terrace Avenues between the Garfield Ladner Pier and the Veteran's Memorial. Several months ago it was reported that aldermen approved the use of Tidelands Funds for a feasibility study to determine the scope of the project.

On Tuesday, Compton engineer Steve Oivanki, out of the firm's Biloxi office, said the study was about 50 percent complete. Oivanki said he expected to complete the study in about a month.

The study is geared toward looking at the pros and cons on environmental and economic development issues associated with the proposed project.

Size and construction options could vary according to the funding available, Oivanki said.

Building the project in phases could be an option, for example, or the decision of whether to sell fuel or not, Oivanki said. Whatever the options chosen, he said, the location at Coleman and Terrace was the only one proposed in the study.

During the last administration, the idea of the marina project met with tremendous public outcry and was tabled permanently by the previous Board of Aldermen for their term of office.

Residents said the proposed project would cause excessive traffic and contamination of the beachfront and surrounding waters and lend a commercial air to a quiet residential setting. Others said the project would ruin views of the Sound and inhibit fishing on the Garfield Ladner Pier.

In other business:

- Aldermen voted to deny a request for a zoning change from R-1 to R-2 made by Nicholas M. Haas for property at the corner of Daniel and Breland Streets. Haas had planned to build a duplex at that location.

- Spread on the minutes the cost of emergency sewer repairs at Central Ave. and Marcus Drive as about $700 lower than originally estimated. Cost for repairs came in at $8,514.

Annual Red Bean Cook-Off planned

It is that time of year again, one when the expert red bean cookers start thinking about how they can repeat as last year's top winner.

Of course, there are many other "chopping at the bit" to dethrone last year's winners.

This will mark the 15th Annual American Cancer Society's Red Beans and Rice Cook-Off.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre, once again serves as the general chairman, and himself has won all types of awards over the years. Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Bobbie Gavagnie is the vice chairman. On Wednesday, Gavagnie said the goal this year is to have 50 participants in the cook-off.

Jimmie Ladner Jr. is the team recruitment chairman, and right now is seeking entrants.

The competition is divided in Government, Restaurant, Organization, Business and Family. The cook-off will be held Monday, May 3, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Casino Magic Entertainment Center.

As many of you know, more than 15,000 people in Mississippi will be diagnosed with cancer this year. In the United States, one in two men and one in three women will be diagnosed with cancer at some point in their lifetime.

This is a great benefit for the American Cancer Society.

We will be telling you more about the event as May 3, nears. Now the most important thing is to have red bean cookers as participants and there are several different sponsoring levels.

For further information, contact Eddie Favre at 467-9092, or Jimmie Ladner at 467-4425.

Waveland's Charles Hawkins Jr. is seeking another championship, the Southern Body Building Championship in Panama City, Fla., on April 10.

Charles, who has been a weightlifter for over 20 years, will compete in the open light heavy weight division and the masters over 35 category.

Charles has competed five times for the title of Mr. Mississippi and has never been defeated. In 1997 he won third place at the 2002 Muscle Mania in New Orleans.

I have known Charles for many years and he is a very fine and outstanding young man and a role model for many. He sure created a lot of interest the last time he spoke to the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club.

He is now a full-time fitness trainer in addition to preaching when he is not training.

One of the goals for Hawkins is to compete in the Mr. Universe competition in New York this August. If he makes the top five at Panama City this weekend, he will be given that opportunity.

Best of luck goes out to Hawkins on Saturday.

Winter's fascination with the art of politics

At age 6, mind you, William Winter cast his first ballot — for Democrat Al Smith in the 1928 presidential election.

That's when his Confederate veteran grandfather — noted for having ridden with the intrepid General Nathan Bedford Forrest (hence William's middle name of Forrest) — took him to the local polling place in rural Grenada County.

He could mark his ballot for him, William's grandfather told his grandson, as long as he put his "X" next to the Democrat, New York Gov. Al Smith.

Thereby William Winter began what would be a lifetime fascination with — and sometimes candidate — in the art of politics.

It's noteworthy that William's first vote went for a losing candidate (Herbert Hoover won). It would not be his last disappointment in the outcome of an election. Though honored today as Mississippi's elder statesman and its most respected ex-governor, few remember it took three tries for Winter to win the state's No. 1 job.

Recently honored at Millsaps College for his distinguished service to his fellow man, the 81-year-old Winter looked back over his meaningful life-time.

Admittedly, as he recounted having marked his first ballot at the tender age of six, Winter told his listeners at Millsaps: "I can't recall when I wasn't interested in politics."

His father, a farmer, had been elected to the state Senate in the middle of the Great Depression,

taking his seat in 1932

when as Winter says, the state was "dead broke."

Fiscal worries of our cur-

Uniforms do not 'outrage' parent

Dear Editor,

I, too, have a response to the school uniform policy.

I took the time to read the many pages of the school uniform policy.

While I have concerns regarding the numerous details of the policy, I am certainly not "outraged" by the policy. I have spoken to numerous parents who are open to the decision of school uniforms.

I put on a uniform every day I go to work. My uniform represents who I am from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. every work day. But, when I am on my own free time, I do dress as I choose. A uniform mirrors a consistency and an equality. A uniform can promote teamwork. To all the parents who want to challenge the school board's decision, try telling the coach of your child's sports team that by your child wearing the team's uniform, they cannot "express their individuality."

I am the proud parent of two honor students. Both of them are very open to the fact of having school uniforms. They are elementary age, and I realize this consensus may change as they get older. No matter if they are Americans or not, they too must learn to live by rules. These very children whose rights are being

"infringed" upon will grow up to be our next generation of medical providers, military and etc. They will be told what they can wear

while they are representing their profession as we adults are told.

As most individuals have experienced, trying to please and attain full support of a mass population is next to impossible. Yes, the policy is a change. Yes, I am sure questions will arise throughout the year. But, as the parents here in Hancock County, let's try to be examples to the children by having a positive attitude and supporting our school district.

Bay High Interact Club claims awards at district competition

The Bay High School Interact Club recently attended the annual District 6840 Interact Club Convention in Gulfport on March 25-27.

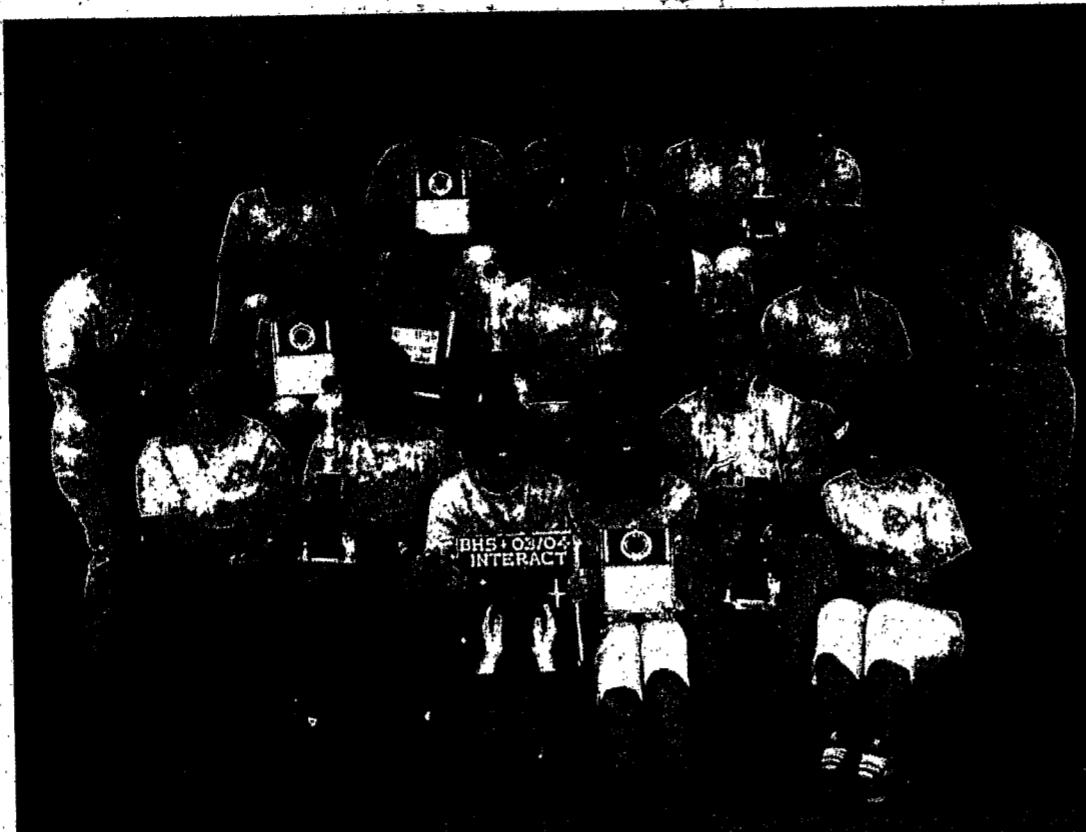

Convention delegates were made up of students from southeast Mississippi and Louisiana schools. The club participated in both group and individual competitions and came home with top honors.

Group competitions were judged based on the description and documentation of the many service projects and activities that were outlined in both the project book and scrapbook they submitted.

The overall group placed first in scrapbook, first in school service and second in community service. Lacy Bigham won the Terrible Talent Show. Individual competitions were judged by personal interviews with Tish Haas Williams, Rotarian and executive director of Hancock County's Chamber of Commerce.

Plaques were presented to individual award winners for the following categories: Heather Ladner, Miss Interact; Kiet Le, Mr. Interact; and Lorna Stanton, Interactor of the Year.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club sponsors the Bay High Interact Club. The students

Bay High School Interact Club members proudly display their scrapbook, project book, plaques and trophies received during the District 6840 Interact Convention. Also pictured are who won the individual awards also received an invitation to attend a district rotary meeting from the Rotary Governor of District 6840, Janice Young.

Bay High's Lorna Stanton was elected to serve as the 2004-2005 District vice president. Jonathon Morton from Warren Easton High School, Canal Street, Louisiana, was elected as the 2004-2005 District president. Keynote and guest speakers during the convention were Marca Boyer, Bay High School's principal; Becky Ginn, director of the American Heart Association; Kay Daneault, division director of the March of Dimes; and Janice Young, the Rotary's Governor of District 6840.

The Interactors who

Minor

voted against it. Several years later, Winter tells, "he admitted it was the biggest mistake he ever made."

As the Depression seared the nation, it cut even deeper into both the black and white population of Mississippi — our per capita income was only half the nation's; only one white child in four and one black child in 40 finished high school.

Winter said he saw firsthand how the political leadership and programs of Franklin Roosevelt brought hope and recovery to the nation, FDR convinced him, Winter added, "that politics is a worthy profession."

His father, Winter said, who served four terms in the Legislature, became his first political hero. "He believed that the agencies of government at all levels were the force that kept our society stable ... and only a political system that was compassionate and humane could hope to last."

Just back from overseas service in World War II, Winter and 11 other veterans who were Ole Miss law school students won seats in the Legislature. They became the progressive young legislative "Class of 1948" which confronted long neglected issues including the racial status quo.

But the Mississippi-born Dixiecrat revolt that year against re-election of Democratic President Harry Truman over his civil rights program made political life difficult for Winter and his fellow progressives.

Winter managed to steer clear of the Dixiecrat segregationist drumbeat that found 87 percent of the Mississippi Democratic electorate bolting the national party ticket and backing Thurmond's presidential candidacy.

After the folly of the 1948 Dixiecrat bolt, Winter became part of a new moderate state Democratic leadership built around Governors Hugh White and J.P. Coleman which carried the state for Illinois Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and 1956.

But in 1960, a new Mississippi-born party bolt movement led by Gov. Ross Barnett and the segregationist Citizens' Council sought to block the election of John F. Kennedy. Again, Winter stood with the state's moderates against the segregationist tide, a move that his political enemies would use against him for years.

Because he opposed the White Citizens Council, supported Kennedy and defended several outspoken critics of the state's racist past, Winter said he was tagged as a "moderate," one of the most onerous labels of that day.

His defeat by John Bell Williams for governor in 1967 marked the last outright racist gubernatorial campaign. But it did not entirely stop appeals to racial prejudice from creeping into gubernatorial rhetoric as it did in 2003.

Finally, when his time to lead the state as governor finally arrived in 1980, the scholarly Winter remained true to his roots, first planted by his schoolteacher mother. He made state and national history in 1982 by pushing through the landmark Education Reform Act.

Galarza was charged with two counts of murder and is lodged in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility awaiting a preliminary hearing in Justice Court, Hurt said. Garber said, "This has been a lengthy and difficult investigation with Hurt leading the investigative team, and spending lots and lots of hours. I am proud of the investigators' dedication and the entire department's work performed during the last 18 days and nights in this investigation."

clock, leading up to the arrest of a suspect and need to be commended for their work."

The bodies were discovered on March 18 by a couple who are the new owners of property at 5475 Lower Bay Road near Clermont Harbor while they were doing some clearing work. They noticed where an animal had been digging and saw a man's arm in a hole and notified the sheriff's office, Hurt said at the time.

"The crime lab personnel along with our entire investigating team worked past midnight in removing the victims from the grave which was about three feet deep. In order not to disturb the bodies, small tools were used to dig the bodies out of the moist soil," Hurt said.

"We received tremendous support, too, from the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Bay Side and West Hancock Volunteer Fire Departments in addition to several individuals who provided flood lights for the night work."

Later that week, autopsies performed by Dr. Paul McGarry and investigative information led to the identification of the two murder victims, according to Hurt's report.

Hurt said the victims were "known to be friends and associates" of Galarza's.

Lead investigators Roan and Fizer were assisted by Hancock investigators John Luther, Rita Blaize-Watson, Burt Johnson, Matt Barnett and Deron Cuevas, Hurt said.

tions of people she didn't like in the wrong files and mailed eviction warning notices out without leaving proper time for people to respond to them.

Martin also alleges that numerous complaints from residents about leaking gas stoves and other problems were largely ignored and unrecorded and that residents were harassed and fined for offenses they did not commit or had no control over, such as trash in the yard or a toy on the roof.

Morris, when contacted last Friday, said she would make limited comments because she had not contacted an attorney on the matter. She said she thought Martin was a good employee, but unhappy in her job. Because of this, she said, she thought Martin "misread" many situations.

All of the letters for evictions, Morris said, were always mailed on the eighth of each month, with court hearings on the unresolved evictions on the twenty-first of the month in Justice Court.

Morris said the office considered people with jobs as first on the list for housing, with a certain percentage reserved for very low income residents, most of these being seniors. If all the people at the top of the list in the higher income bracket are served, then the office starts to award housing to the next bracket, Morris said. She said potential applicants were advised that they needed to find gainful employment.

Morris refused comment on the issue of misfiling except to say that the practice simply did not take place and that Martin was mistaken.

Hancock County NAACP president Thaddeaus Williams confirmed on Friday that the organization was planning to conduct an investigation into the accusations. Williams said that the NAACP will have a meeting with the board of the housing authority in the middle of April. Williams said the organization will be looking into allegations of discrimination in fair housing practices and in problems with record keeping. It is not just a black or white issue, Williams said.

On Tuesday, Hancock NAACP investigator Lonnie Bradley said his organization was in communication with the state office of HUD and that the director Holly Belino had confirmed that the office would conduct an investigation both into the Bay St. Louis Housing Authority and Carol Morris. Bradley considers the documentation that local NAACP officials have seen as legitimate, he said, adding that he believes that indicates there are some problems with Housing Authority practices.

"We have agreed to give HUD officials a chance to come to some solution on their own and if the problems are not resolved to our satisfaction then we will decide how to proceed on the matter," Bradley said.

On Wednesday, HUD's Jackson field office Director Pat Hoban-Moore confirmed that a team of investigators would conduct a preliminary site visit to gather information, documentation and look at records at the Bay St. Louis office. Should HUD officials determine that a full scale investigation is warranted, it will occur quickly, Moore said. All complaints received at the office must be responded to in writing, she said. The Jackson office has no record of a history of complaints from Bay St. Louis, Moore said.

Funds -- $650K in Tidelands bill reallocates some $450,000 in Tidelands Trust money that the city had been awarded in recent years for improvements to the Jimmy Rutherford Fishing Pier at Ulman Avenue. That money would be earmarked for the newer waterfront project, with a new appropriation of $200,000 to go with it.

"That's probably the best news we got in the last two and a half months coming out of Jackson," said Favre of the state House's action. He said the Senate is to consider the measure soon, possibly next week.

The city spent over $1 million in Tidelands money to build the Rutherford pier, complete with lighting and restrooms. It also won applications totaling some $450,000 for additional improvements to that facility -- but found almost no public support for spending to further enhance that pier.

Engineers studied options for adding public parking along Beach Boulevard in the area of the pier, but city officials agreed with area residents that those options simply were not feasible or desirable.

Instead, support swung to the idea of buying the parking next to the Fire Dog Saloon, near Court Street.

Tied to that purchase is vacant waterfront property that would give beach goers access. City officials want to buy both properties, and build boardwalks and associated public improvements along the waterfront.

The city has eyed purchase of the property for years. Allocation of the Tidelands funding would be a major jumpstart for the project, which is hoped to be a boon to downtown tourism and business.

Smart growth conference scheduled for May 10-12

Smart growth techniques, sustainable development designs and numerous other topics that relate to natural resource conservation and economic development issues unique to coastal Mississippi will be discussed at the fifth annual Coastal Development Strategies Conference (Smart Growth), May 10-12 at Grand Casino Biloxi, Bayview Convention Center.

Pre-conference activities include a golf tournament for conference registrants on May 10. The Comprehensive Resource Management Plan (CRMP) is hosting the event in association with CRMP stakeholders, the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce and the Harrison County Development Commission.

CRMP is a program within the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR). CRMP's mission is to develop a plan to sustain Mississippi's coastal resources while providing a healthy economy in the region.

"The Coastal Development Strategies Conference spotlights smart growth issues, bringing together all the people knowledgeable about economic development as well as environmental managers," said DMR Executive Director William Walker.

"Smart growth balances development and natural resources.

This group working together can achieve the balance necessary to allow for the economic development that is so important to our state while at the same time preserving the equally important quality-of-life issues that our citizens have come to expect living here on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. We are really very fortunate to have Leland Speed, Executive Director of the Mississippi Development Authority, participating as a speaker in this conference. It's absolutely necessary that the Mississippi Development Authority, the coastal governing bodies and the regulatory community move forward together smartly in providing for economic development on the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

The regional conference is designed for landowners,

Relay for Life has surprise for survivor

This year the American Cancer Society Hancock County Relay for Life Survivor's Committee, chaired by Debbie Downey, is adding a special touch to the Relay for its survivor participants by presenting each survivor with a special gift as they register at the Relay.

This gift will be a canvas tote with the names or the sponsors or the sponsors logo printed on the tote. Inside the tote will be items such as toothbrushes, suntan lotion, pens, etc., which will be donated by local and national merchants. In order to provide this gift, they are relying on the community's support by becoming a sponsor for the tax deductible amount of $250. Sponsors names will also be posted on the donor board at the Survivor's Tent and published in the local media. The deadline to have your logo printed on the tote is Friday, April 9th. For more information, contact Melanie Mitchell at 467-5486 or Debbie Downey at 467-7807.

If you would like to donate some goodies with your company name to be placed in the survivor tote bags, they will be most happy to include them with their other items. The goal is to fill 200 bags for the survivors expected to attend the Relay.

Bowling embezzlement trial ongoing

BY BENNIE
SHALEBENDER
Staff Writer

More than a year after his arrest when he was charged with the embezzlement of over $140,000 in funds from Park Ten Lanes, bowling pro and former Park Ten employee, Sam R. Cittadino III, 38, came to trial this week.

Prosecutor Chris Schmitt called witness after witness on Wednesday in an attempt to shed light on accounting practices among the bowling center's leagues. Cittadino was a manager at the center and is suspected of allegedly funneling league funds into his own pocket.

Apparently, much of the business at the center was done on a cash basis, both for fees and for winning purses for leagues. As of Wednesday afternoon, none of the fellow employees called by the prosecution could say they ever saw Cittadino take funds from the center.

Defense attorney John Whitfield attempted to direct attention to pro bowling tournaments or "pot bowling" games after hours at the center as the real source of income for Cittadino. The "pot bowling" games sometimes had purses as hefty as $7,000, Whitfield said.

Cittadino was arrested in January of 2003 and released on a $50,000 bond. The trial continues on Thursday in Judge Steve Simpson's court.

Family gallery opens in the Bay

BY SHANNON

JENKINS

Staff Writer

In Joe Parker's family, blood is thicker than oil paint.

He said at least 30 members of his large family are involved in some form of art. Parker himself works with stained glass, photography and occasionally oils, acrylics and poetry.

"As a family, we always tried to make gifts for each other," he said. "Most of the gifts we give are artworks we have created."

As a member of such an artistic bloodline, it was only appropriate to form a family corporation that would promote their artworks. Thus, Parker Arts was created and will open its first outlet at Loft Studios in Bay St. Louis just in time for Second Saturday on April 10.

According to its mission statement, Parker Arts is a "small family held corporation dedicated to the growth and preservation of the arts through family generations."

This family creed also states that the corporation was created to accomplish two major objectives: To promote the appreciation and growth of the arts within the family through past and present generations and through the future — their children, and to provide a variety of outlets whereby they and other talented artists, both young and mature, can display their art at a reasonable consideration.

With these goals in mind, Parker has been diligently working on the first of these outlets located at 144 Main Street.

In two years, he hopes to have an outlet in Louisiana, and in five years, he hopes to have one in Virginia or North Carolina.

Parker selected the Olde Town location after speaking with Loft Studios owner, Donna Davenport. He said he spoke with Davenport during a Second Saturday event about his plans to display artwork by his family. Three weeks later, Parker said Davenport offered him a space at Loft Studios.

"I think Bay St. Louis is the best place on the Coast to find a quality art community to join," he said. "Donna convinced me this was the place to sell art."

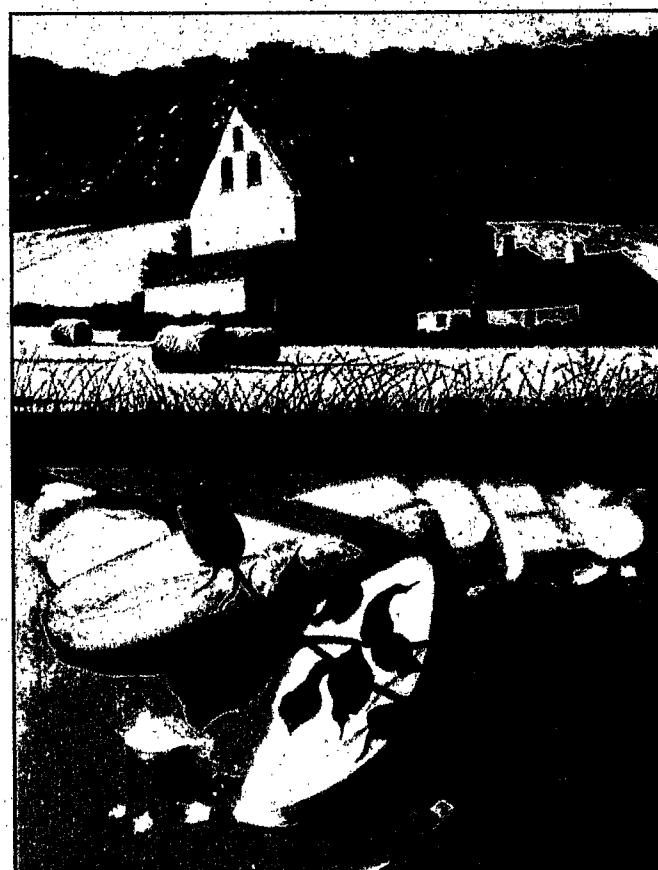

Without her help and cooperation, Parker said Parker Arts would not be here.

The Bay St. Louis outlet will carry artworks by himself and family members as well as non-related artists.

Parker said his outlet will be the only gallery on the Coast to carry work by renowned New Orleans artist Rolland Golden.

Family artists who will be represented in the gallery include Ian Parker, jewelry and sculpture in precious metals and stones; Jessica Parker, equine sculpture, drawings and paintings; Susan Hollers, paper creations; Heather Doberstein, sculpture and paintings; Mesha Wooden, creations from scratch including real essential and natural oils in soap; and William and Matthew Thompson, wood work.

Parker, who resides in Pass Christian, said the majority of proceeds of the Bay St. Louis gallery will help artists in the family through scholarships and other means of financial encouragement.

Work by Rolland Golden, a renowned artist from New Orleans, will be available at Parker Arts at Loft Studios. Pictured is his lithograph "Of This Earth - Variation I."

One of the new works from Keith Karlson's "The Mist of Time" photograph collection, on display at Serenity Gallery for Second Saturday. Below: Alfred J. Walker Fine Art's satellite gallery at Serenity Gallery features Virginia True's 1935 painting "Gas Station."

"Time" have a very painterly quality. Often when people first see his work they think they are in fact paintings. He accomplishes this by shooting in more foggy and hazy conditions, and uses no filters or darkroom techniques to accomplish this effect. The title of the show reflects the timeless quality of light and beauty inspired by nature, as well as the mystery of life. In addition to large format photographs, the show will include a series of what Karlson calls traveling icons. These are small framed photographs of nature to be placed on desks or elsewhere and used as calming and meditative tools.

Alfred J. Walker Fine Art, whose main gallery is in Boston, with a satellite at Serenity Gallery, will feature selected works by contemporary artists. For more, call Serenity Gallery at 228-467-3061. Peoples Bank will sponsor the music Beach Blvd. Rhythm and Rain.

Take a 'Tripp' to the Moon

THE SEA COAST ECHO Pamela Tripp will be the featured artist at the Quarter Moon Gallery beginning April 10 through May 5th. The opening reception will be held during the Second Saturday Artwalk from 5-8pm. Landscapes of the natural beauty of Mississippi and colorful scenes of life in the Caribbean and Central America are themes of the work on exhibit.

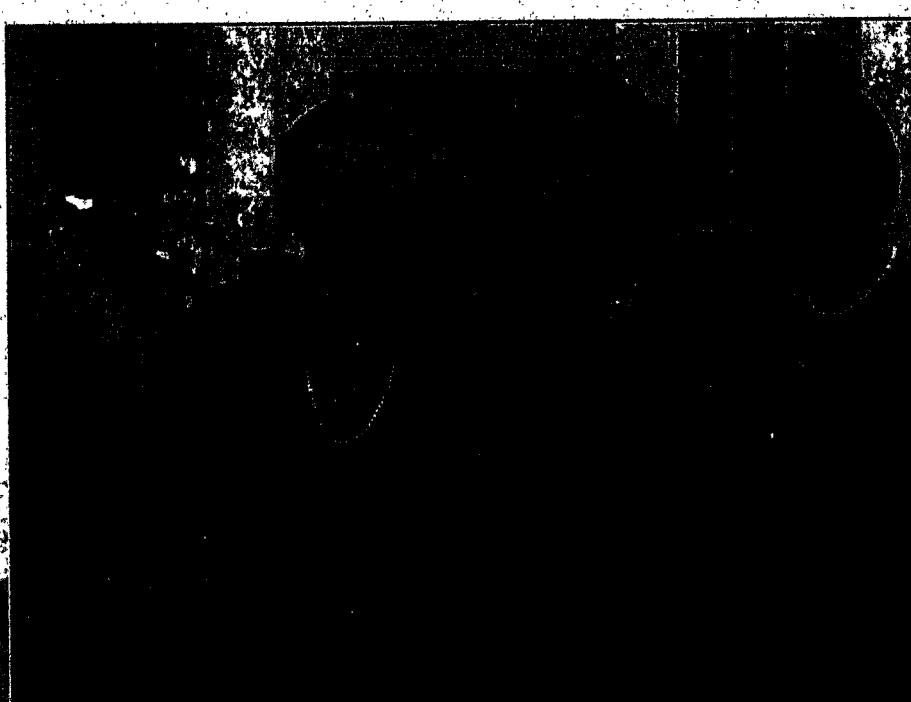

With her landscapes of Mississippi, Pamela Tripp captures the essence of the coast, bayous and countryside. The Mississippi series shows the incredible beauty of the region. Tripp's Caribbean scenes reflect the excitement and color of places she has visited throughout Central America. The trips to these countries were made without the benefit of an organized tour group. Accommodations were arranged in homes of local families upon her arrival. She traveled by using whatever the local mode of transport was available. Travel has inspired her to recapture some of the people, events and beauty of these places.

Tripp enjoys using the Impressionists' concept of visually fusing color. Her use of color has a vibrancy that is achieved by the juxtaposition of the primary colors and their complements. Each pastel painting begins with preliminary sketches drawn from personal experience. The composition is then underpainted and followed by several layers of pastel that give the piece depth of color and imagery.

Tripp has been invited to teach a pastel workshop

THE SEA COAST ECHO Many people know Charbonnet & Charbonnet for its quality European antiques and beautifully designed and built custom furniture, but few know the story of female entrepreneurship and family contribution behind this successful business.

In 1971, Millicent Charbonnet found herself in an opportunistic environment. She was married to her college sweetheart, attorney Sid Charbonnet, and they had two small children. Although she was a real estate agent at the time, Millicent and Sid were interested in investing in other career options.

They learned of a company in Buenos Aires that was melting down antique brass beds to make into ashtrays for the tourist trade. Together with a partner and a $5,000 loan from the bank, they purchased a large shipment of brass

Bay beats Pass, sets up game with SSC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

Staff Writer

The Bay High Tigers traveled across the Bay bridge on Tuesday, and claimed a 7-3 Division 8 Class 4A win over the Pass Christian Pirates that broke a three-way tie for the fourth and final playoff spot in the division.

The win by Bay High sets up a showdown of crosstown rivals Bay High and St. Stanislaus today at Tiger Stadium, with a possible playoff berth hanging in the balance.

Earlier in the season, the Rocks claimed a 2-1 win at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. SSC head coach Mark Logan and Bay High head coach Mike Weems, both pupils of the venerable Fred Weems, will match wits for a shot at the postseason. Game time is set for 7pm.

In the game against Pass Christian, the Tigers got up 3-0 in the first inning when BJ Corr smacked a two-run double. Corr scored when Justin Cook singled later in the inning. In the game, Bay High used four pitchers on the mound in the win. BJ Corr started the game and lasted 2 innings. Cory Jordan relieved Corr for 2 innings followed by Kyle Sick. Trevor Adam came in during the seventh inning but was replaced by Sick for the final two batters.

The Tigers scored again in the fourth inning to go up 4-0 on the Pirates. In the top of the sixth inning, Cory Jordan got on base with a single to centerfield followed by a hit from Robbie Pitre. Trevor Adam drove in both Tiger baserunners to make the score 6-0.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, Dustin Allen smacked a two-run dinger over the right centerfield fence to get the Pirates on the board 6-2.

Kyle Sick led off the seventh inning for the Tigers with a single and was driven home by Chris Billingsley for the final Bay High run and make the score 7-3.

Frederick Wiley hit a triple in the bottom of the seventh and was sent home by Cory Ladner's RBI single to leftfield. Wiley's score was the final run for the Pirates in the game.

The Pirates had 9 hits while the Tigers pounded out 10 hits. Dustin Allen led the pirates with a home run and a triple. Jeremy Bailey and Cory Ladner each added two singles.

Robbie Pitre, Ryan Dedeaux, and Cory Jordan all recorded a multiple hit game for the Tigers.

Bay High head coach Mike Weems stated, "This was a huge win for us. We came in wanting to put the ball in play and not make many errors in the field. We accomplished those goals tonight. Our pitchers combined to pitch an effective game for us. Now, we face another tough test on Thursday against St. Stanislaus."

On Saturday, April 3, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws entertained the Long Beach Bearcats in a non-division game at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. The Rocks upended the Bearcats 8-3 behind the arm of Tim Kulikowski who scattered four hits and struck five batters in the complete game.

SSC head coach Mark Logan stated, "We played well for six innings. Timmy Kulikowski battled hard on the mound all game. We lost a little confidence in the seventh inning but remained positive and won the game. Long Beach is a very good team and this is a big win for us."

Lee Klein got on base with a double to rightfield in the first inning. He scored when Kulikowski ripped an infield single. Brett Ladner smashed a double to centerfield followed by a hard-hit ball from Spencer Ziegler who batted in Kulikowski to give the Rocks a 2-0 advantage.

SSC went up 5-0 in the third inning when they sent seven batters to the plate. Ladner and Ziegler both had singles to start the inning. Dillon Drake reached on a fielder's choice but drove in a run to make the score 3-0. Lance Cuevas followed Drake with a two-run double to centerfield to make the tally 5-0.

The Rocks added three more runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to make the score 8-0. Brooks Breland and Kulikowski both reached on Bearcat errors while Tyler Henry drew a walk to load the bases.

Brett Ladner drove in a run when he was hit by a pitch. Ziegler added another RBI to his total when he singled to rightfield. Dillon Drake hit a sacrifice fly to score Klein and make the score 8-0.

The Bearcats scored all three of their runs in the top of seventh inning. The Rocks improved to 9-4 and 3-5 in the division.

On Friday, the Rocks blanked the Hancock Hawks 8-0. Alex Nunez pitched a complete game allowing three hits and striking out four batters.

Zack Elkins led the team with three stolen bases while Tyler Henry had two hits and an RBI at the plate. Kulikowski added an RBI in the win. Cuevas drilled a triple and tallied an RBI for SSC.

Also, on Saturday, the Bay High Tigers split a pair of games with the Hancock Hawks. Bay High lost the first game 7-1 but rebounded in the bottom of the fifth inning to win the second game 4-3.

In the first game, Tyler Brush pitched a four-hitter and struck out two batters en route to the win. Brad McGlade was on fire at the plate for Hancock (4-17) collecting three hits and four RBIs in the game. Thomas Landisi tallied two hits, as well. Ryan Dedeaux led Bay High at the plate in the first game with two hits.

Hancock head coach Andy Perniciaro commented, "In the first game, it was a combination of strong pitching and timely hitting. The second game came down to the inability to make the routine play in the infield."

The nightcap had Bay High come from a 3-1 deficit to win 4-3 in the bottom of the fifth inning. Hancock went up 3-1 in the third inning when they scored on a past ball.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, Kyle Sick reached first base for Bay High on an error. Justin Cook singled to leftfield. Both players scored on past balls in the inning to tie the game at 3-3.

In the bottom of the fifth, Robbie Pitre reached first base on an infield hit and later scored the winning run when Justin Cook reached on an error.

Bay High head coach Mike Weems stated, "In the first game, Hancock hit the ball really well and pitched hard. In the second game, we just got some breaks."

Pitre and Cook led Bay High in the second game with two hits each while Cory Jordan tallied a hit and an RBI. For Hancock, Landisi had two hits followed by McGlade and Brad Favre with one hit each.

On Friday, the Bay High Tigers pulled an 8-6 upset win over the visiting East Central Hornets who were undefeated in district play at 8-0.

Bay High took the lead for good in the sixth inning when Pitre led off with a single and eventually scored on a past ball with two outs. Kyle Sick added insurance for the Tigers heading into the final inning when he smashed a dinger to put Bay High up 8-6.

East Central looked as though they were going to tie the game when the first two batters hit singles off Cory Jordan. However, a strikeout and a fly out by East Central put them in a situation with runners at the corners and two outs.

Jordan fanned the final East Central batter to preserve the win and keep Bay High alive for the final play-off spot in Division 8 Class 4A.

In other recent diamond action, the Pass Christian Pirates dropped three games in a row. On Friday, April 2, the Pirates fell 17-4 to Vanderveen in division action. Corey Ladner led the Pirates in the loss with two hits.

On Saturday, the Pirates dropped their game with Forrest County 9-8 in the bottom of the seventh inning and Lumberton 3-1.

In the first game, Dustin Allen accounted for two hits and two RBIs in the loss for Pass Christian. The second game saw Allen hit a solo dinger for the Pirates' only run of the game.

In recent softball action, OLA beat Biloxi 5-1 behind the first inning heroics of Rachel Cuevas who smacked a grand slam to help OLA even their record at 9-9.

On the track, SSC's Kyle Lewis continued to trim seconds off his school record in the 3200m run. Lewis, an Ole Miss signee, placed third in a field of 19 runners in the Mobile Meet of Champions on Saturday.

Lewis was clocked at 9:21.49 for the two-mile run which is converted into a 9:18.50 for the 3200m. The personal best is 15 seconds faster than his previous best.

beds and arranged to have them polished and shipped to New Orleans. In a matter of a few weeks, their first store, Brass Roots at 3947 Magazine Street in New Orleans, was open.

Although Sid was always a "not so silent partner," the antiques business was primarily Millicent's venture.

The brass beds were an instant hit, but Charbonnet looked to the future. She began importing containers of antiques from England and Ireland. Her specialty evolved to antique country pieces and eventually expanded to include uniquely designed furniture of antique cypress, pine and bargeboard.

The company now known by its corporate name, Charbonnet & Charbonnet, has thrived in New Orleans for over 30 years. However the family decided that now was the time for a change.

Recently, the Charbonnets sold the store located on Magazine Street in the New Orleans Garden District to focus on the location nearest to the family's home in Pass Christian, Mississippi. Charbonnet & Charbonnet's New Orleans store will be open through the end of May and the moving sale is currently underway.

Their new store is located at 216 Main Street in Old Town Bay St. Louis. This delightful coastal town has always been known as a Charbonnet & Charbonnet, on Main St. in Bay St. Louis.

Mecca for art galleries and antiques shops. Many have referred to the town as the "Key West of the Gulf Coast". It is in this setting that the Charbonnet family believes they will continue to succeed. They have purchased and renovated an old home complete with a picket fence and lots of room for parking. Here they will offer their clients not only the traditional inventory of classic country antiques but will also be adding other items that blend into this coastal setting.

"Charbonnet & Charbonnet has been a family affair since the time our children were in high school," said Charbonnet. Their four children have all been active in the business. Mona Charbonnet Musser, their daughter, has been business manager for many years. Much of the success of Charbonnet & Charbonnet is due to her dedication to the business and to their clients. Daughter, Millicent Charbonnet Britton, and her husband, Mark, moved to Bay St. Louis from New York City last year to manage the Gulf Coast store.

"I have learned and grown with my business over the past 30 years, with the support of my family," said Charbonnet. "I find tremendous pride in providing unique heirlooms for generations of families to treasure.

Charbonnet & Charbonnet's store in Old Town Bay St. Louis offer antiques, home furnishings, lamps, rugs, framed paintings and prints, vintage linens, ceramics and a wide variety of gift items. For more information about Charbonnet & Charbonnet, visit www.charbonnetantiques.com.

Frankie Avalon, Fabian and Bobby Rydell bring 'Bandstand' to Bay Casino Magic Fabian, Frankie Avalon and Bobby Rydell will perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

ifties hearthrobs Frankie, Avalon, Fabian and Bobby Rydell perform their sock-hop hits and some of the most beloved music of the bandstand era in two performances at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis May 14th and 15th at 9 p.m. Tickets are: $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 and through any Ticketmaster outlet.

The Golden Boys were three of the most popular teen idols and the late 50's and early 60's and have met with overwhelming concert success while touring together off and on again since 1985.

Frankie Avalon, 63, began his show biz career by playing the trumpet and wowing the audience at various Philadelphia talent shows. By the age of 12, he was a member of a local dance band which featured another future teen idol on drums -- Bobby Rydell. In 1957, the rise of "American Bandstand" inspired Avalon to try a solo singing career. He made waves with the hits, "Venus," "Bobby Sox to Stockings," and "De De Dinah."

In the 60's Avalon turned to acting starring in several films with Annette Funicello that were inspired by the nationwide surfing craze -- "Beach Party," "Muscle Beach," "Beach Blanket Bingo," and many more.

Perhaps his most memorable role came in 1978's "Grease" in which he played a teen angel and sang "Beauty School Dropout."

Another Philadelphia native, Fabian Forte, 61, was discovered sitting on his front steps at the age of 14. By the time he was 18 he had recorded dozens of hit singles including: "Turn Me Loose," "Tiger" and "I'm the Man." In 1959, he made his screen debut and has since had featured roles with John Wayne, James Stewart, Jack Palance, and George Segal. Never a disappointment to his fans, Fabian is still as good looking, charming and hard working as ever.

Bobby Rydell, 62, grew up in the same south Philly neighborhood as Avalon and Fabian. He began his career playing the drums at the age of five and was working night clubs by age seven. As a teenager he played with Frankie Avalon in a local dance band and went solo after seeing Avalon's success. Rydell's hits include: "Volare," "Wild One," and "Kissin' Time." In 1963, he appeared in the screen version of the hit Broadway musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie" opposite Ann Margaret.

Today the trio find their most success in their family lives and through touring together. Baby Boomers still flock to their concerts in droves screaming, "Frankie you're the best!" and "I love you Fabian!" Must be 21 to attend.
